Appear 'All Set' To Strike

Freight Embargo
By The Missouri
Pacific Except on Quick Delivery

CLEVELAND, Sept. 7—(AP)—Representatives of three railroad operating brotherhoods with headquarters here decided today to make "no change whatsoever" in a plan to strike on the Missouri Pacific railroad at 3 p.m. Friday.

The unions were considering a National (railway) Mediation Board proposal for arbitration of grievances by a specially appointed board—a proposal which Frank Douglass, board member, said had been accepted by the railroad.

The dispute involves some 282 unsettled claims and an estimated $3,000,000. A walkout would idle about 30,000 workers.

A spokesman at one of the brotherhood headquarters here said the decision to go through with the strike was reached in a 40-minute meeting of top officials of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Engineers and Firemen, and Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

The Order of Railway Conductors, fourth operating brotherhood involved in the dispute, has headquarters in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and did not have a representative among the half dozen union officials who met today at the BLE's building.

Earlier in Washington Douglass told a reporter that the mediation board had "done everything we can under the law, and then some, trying to stop it, and had no success. We've given up entirely now and it looks like a strike."

The Missouri Pacific imposed a freight embargo last midnight.

Fall On Mediation

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7—(AP)—The National (railway) Mediation Board said today "We've given up entirely" trying to avert a strike Friday on the Missouri Pacific railroad.

Frank Douglass a board member, told a reporter:

"I think they're all set to have a strike. We've done everything we can under the law, and then some, trying to stop it, and had no success. We've given up entirely now, and it looks like a strike."

The labor dispute involves more than 300 grievances, unsettled for several years, between the railroad and four unions. They are the Brotherhoods of Trainmen, Firemen, and Engineers and the Order of Railway Conductors.

Tried Every Technique

Douglass said the Mediation Board had tried every technique outlined in the railway labor law in an effort to settle the dispute. He said that, beyond the law, the board proposed arbitration of the grievances by a specially-appointed board.

This plan was accepted by the railroad but Douglass said, no reply from the four unions has been received. Douglass said he now felt there may be no reply at all from the unions since they have been considering the arbitration plan since last week.

Impose Freight Embargo

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 7—(AP)—A spokesman for the Missouri Pacific said today the railroad now is accepting no freight that cannot be delivered by 2 p.m. (CDT) Friday, the time set for a strike. That's the effect of a freight embargo imposed by the railroad last midnight.

"Most freight in transit now and which can reach its destination within the next 48 hours will be accepted," the railroad spokesman explained. "But we're not going to get caught with loaded cars on the sidings."

Operating employees of four brotherhoods called the strike in protest over some 282 unsettled claims involving an estimated $3,000,000. The walkout would tie up the railroad's operations and idle about 30,000 workers.

In announcing the freight embargo last night the railroad said similar restrictions will be placed on passenger, mail, baggage and express services at midnight Thursday night.

New developments were reported in the strike situation today. But in Washington last night the National Mediation Board said "the door is still open for a settlement." A special arbitration board to handle the grievances has been Numerous industries in the 11-state area served by Missouri Pacific would be seriously affected by the proposed strike.

Missouri Pacific To Abolish Jobs

Effective at the closing hour, Friday September 9, the Missouri Pacific railroad is abolishing all jobs in Sedalia until further notice according to bulletins posted at the local shops, the roundhouse, the passenger station freight office, yard office issued to the B. and B. gangs and other various departments of the railroad.

The notices posted abolished some jobs and notified all departments that they would be closed until further notice.

In accordance with various rules some jobs must be abolished while it is only necessary to notify other employees that their departments shall be closed.

It was explained by an official, Tuesday night, that should the strike not be called in all probabilities a verbal order would be issued immediately canceling the orders issued in abolishing the various jobs on the railroad.

Should the strike be called it will affect more than 1,500 Missouri Pacific employees in Sedalia.

The Council also approved the renewal of a 3.2 beer license for Eugene H. Michael, 111 South Ohio avenue.

Report on Sewer Progress

Burns and McDonnell, Engineering Co., Kansas City, presented to the City Council through Councilman John Vandekamp chairman of the Sewer and Sanitation Committee, on the progress of the new sewers being laid in Sedalia.

Engineer James I. Collins reported on street improvements in Sedalia, seal coating and two particular paving projects which have been completed, one Ware avenue completed in accordance with plans and specifications as well as that of Vermont avenue between Sixth street and Broadway.

Congressmen Take A Peek At Tokyo Rose

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7—(P)—Five U. S. congressmen insisted on peeping at Tokyo Rose while she took a bath in Sugamo prison, Tokyo, a former army staff sergeant said.

But he never told his story in court, where Mrs. Iva Toguri d'Aquino, the accused Tokyo Rose, is on trial charged with treason. Instead, the former sergeant, Martin Pray, told it to newsmen.

He was a Sugamo guard when five congressmen arrived. Told that Tokyo Rose was taking a bath, he said, they insisted on seeing her anyhow. They were taken down a corridor and allowed to peer one by one through a slot in the door.

Death To Four In A Sudden Squall

CHICAGO, Sept. 7—(P)—A battered, drifting sailboat—with a young bride's body lashed to the rigging—unfolded Tuesday story of a sudden squall that brought death to four holiday sailors.

The body was that of Mrs. Laurel Neitzel, 22, of Chicago.

She and her husband, Carl Neitzel, 29, an engineer, set sail on Lake Michigan at 5 a. m. Sunday for Michigan City, Ind., with Louis D. MacQuesen, 24, and his wife Clarice, 22 both of Chicago.

They left the Jackson park yacht harbor aboard the 30-foot auxiliary yawl Lorslei II.

Nothing more was heard of the four until the swamped craft was located this morning by the coast guard.

Counterfeit Travelers Checks Are Circulated

NEW YORK, Sept. 7—(P)—Up to $125,000 in counterfeit travelers checks have been passed in American cities in the last 12 days, the American Express Co. said.

One arrest in the case has been made in Los Angeles by local authorities, the company said in a statement. Four other men are held by Detroit police. Both company agents and the FBI have been investigating.

Sgt. William F. Stearla of the Detroit police said the false checks can be detected by rubbing them. He said the multi-colored inks on genuine checks smear when rubbed, while the counterfeits are rub-resistant.

The youths are Warren Oelsner, 20, of Oyster Bay, N. Y., son of Edward G. Oelsner, Sr., of the U. S. Navigation Company, and Peter H. Sellers, son of the so-

One of our party-line customers decided the other day that the others on his line deserved a round of applause, and he wrote us a letter about it. He said:

I am writing this note to compliment my party-line associates for their thoughtfulness in sharing the line. They are what makes party-line telephone service extremely enjoyable and satisfactory.

If they try the line while I'm using it they very gently lift the receiver; and when they hear a conversation going on, they—also very gently—replace the receiver.

Also they limit the length of the conversations. I have yet to wait more than two minutes for them to release the line after I have tried it to make a call.

This courtesy is contagious; they have me doing it.

Party-line service is the choice of about half our customers in normal times when anyone who wants it can have an individual line. But today a good many party-line customers are waiting for the individual lines they would have if equipment were plentiful.

We want to be able to give everyone the service he or she prefers. Where equipment in neighborhoods permits it, we are making some progress in that direction now, despite the continuing heavy demand for telephones from those still without any service.

What we are working to do is eventually to get everyone the type of service and as much service as he or she wants. We appreciate your understanding.

Results Of Merchants At Tourney

Sedalia Team Won One And Dropped Two

The Sedalia Merchants softball team, Sedalia representative to the state softball tournament at Springfield, could without a doubt be picked as the team that was frowned upon the most.

The Merchants dropped a heart breaker to the Springfield team 1-0. Norman Thompson, Sedalia mound ace allowed only three hits, but walked one in the fifth inning. The runner then advanced to third on an error and scored on a fly ball to left field.

Second Game

The Merchants bounced back strong in their second game to pound out eleven hits for eight runs to beat Lebanon 8 to 1. Their fielding was flawless. Omar Simon, catcher, pounded the ball for a single, double and two triples out of four times at bat to lead the Sedalia hitters.

Thompson had two for four, one a long run, scoring a runner ahead of him. Paxton, centerfielder, also got two for four.

The Merchants in their third game started out with a bang in the first inning, getting three runs for an early lead, but in the second inning, the Collins, Mo., team scored eight runs without hitting the ball out of the infield. Three errors, three infield hits and three fielders choice counted for eight big runs.

Lost 8-7 In Third Game

The Sedalia team came back strong again to score two in the third and two in the seventh, but fell one short of tying the game up to lose 8-7 in a hard fought game.

The Merchants feel that their showing in Springfield was not bad and think that with a break or two, could have easily advanced to a higher bracket. Simon, Thompson and Paxton, again got two hits out of four times at bat to lead the Sedalia hitters. Thompson connecting for another home run.

Hitters Bracket

Simon was high in the hitters bracket in the tourney with seven hits, in 11 times at bat. Thompson was among the leaders in games. The Merchants in their last game had nine hits, 7 runs and three errors. Thompson coming in to relieve Bredehoft in the third held the Collins team hitless the rest of the way, but the damage had been completed. Thompson in the tourney in 10 2/3 innings, allowed only three hits and one run to make an impressive performance.

50-50 Chance of Winning Title

WICHITA, Sept. 7—(P)—Fort Wayne goes into the final game of the National Semi-Pro Baseball Tournament tonight with a 50-50 chance of winning its third consecutive title.

The Indiana General Electric team earned that chance last night by beating the Golden, Colo., Coors, 5-2.

Golden previously had been un-beaten in the double elimination tournament, but Fort Wayne had lost one game. Another loss last night would have ousted Fort Wayne.

In tonight's championship game, Frank Ververka will start on the mound for Fort Wayne and Clayton Free will pitch for Golden. Both are lefthanders.

Ververka is a former Southern Association star. Free pitched for the Waco, Tex., Dons in the 1942 semi-pro tourney, winning three games. The Dons won second place this year.

Bill Ricks, Fort Wayne right-hander, limited the Coors to six hits to spoil their chance of clinching the title last night.

Voted Not to Repeal The Bonus Rule

16 Major League Clubs Voted on The Amendment

CINCINNATI, Sept. 7—(P)—Major league baseball has voted against repealing the bonus rule, the office of Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler announced today.

In a brief statement, Walter Mulbry, secretary-treasurer of baseball, said: "The amendment to major and major-minor league rule E (F), the bonus rule, on which a mail vote from the major league clubs was requested August 25, failed of passage."

Approved By Committee

The amendment which had been approved by the major league executive committee would have set aside provisions of the bonus rule for the new crop of players but would have kept them in effect for three years for those players already covered.

Mulbry told newsmen the amendment, "perhaps with modifications," would be on the agenda for the joint major league meeting in December.

George M. Troutman, president of the National Association, will not request minor leagues to vote on the amendment, considering the action of the major leagues, Mulbry said.

He declined to say how each of the 16 major league clubs voted.

Bonus Rule Provides

Briefly, the bonus rule provides that a player, paid more than $5,000 to sign a major AAA or AA league contract, may not be farm-ed out without waivers. The bonus amount for Class A clubs is $4,500 and for B, C, and D club $3,000.

Under an amendment, effective March 31, 1949, bonus players now signed may be optioned for one year by a club which buys or otherwise obtains their contract from the original assignor.

Sport Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7—(P)—Report trickling in from Brooklyn via the Brighton Beach local is that some of the Dodger players are distinctly unhappy about Barney Shotton's handling of the club. . . . Regardless, there's a strong feeling that Shotton will be allowed his wish to retire to Bartow, Fla., next season.

Come to think of it, more than one major league manager must be feeling uneasy now that the season is in the homestretch—notably, of course, Jack Osnos of the White Sox. . . . There's a growing suspicion that Billy Southworth won't return to the Braves. . . . Bill Veeck might renew his efforts to depose Lou Boudreau, unless he disposes of the Indians first. . . . And who'd want to say for sure that Billy Meyer, whose health isn't too good, Frank Frisch, Leo Durocher or Zack Taylor will be on duty next spring?

Facing The Moo-siek

Michigan State, newest member of the Big Ten, hopes to get out of the "Little Cow College" class in football by whipping mighty Michigan this fall. . . . But the Spartans still get a belt out of retelling an incident which happened when that designation still was correct. . . . As usual, the university was giving "The Aggies" a terrific pasting in an early-season game. . . . During the second half Fielding Yost, then Michigan coach, spotted a battered, bloody Michigan State player heading toward the locker room. . . . "Hey, young fellow, the game isn't over yet," Yost shouted. . . . "Mr. Yost," the young Aggie responded, "we were told we were coming down here for experience. I've had mine."

The fans are to see legitimate baseball and not a game run the way one umpire wants it run with the younger players having no right to squawk about anything."

The indestructible Dixie rounds out 18 years in the big leagues this season.

One Minute Sports Page

If Pancho Gonzales turns pro, as expected, Australia's Frank Sedgman should clean up in amateur tennis next year. And the pros likely would make him their next objective. . . . The Yankees are expecting Hugh Casey and Spec Shea to throw their weight around during the final pennant drive—and that's a lot of weight to throw. . . . Texas re-

Six-Man Team Swims Channel

CAP GRIS NEZ, France, Wednesday, Sept. 7—(P)—A six-man Egyptian team swam the English Channel in 11 hours, 11 minutes and claimed a new record early today.

The team's anchor man waded ashore on the beach at St. Po, between Wissant and Blanc Nez, near here, at 2:11 a. m. French time (7:11 p. m. Central Standard Time).

The leadoff swimmer had entered the water near Dover England yesterday at 3 p. m. (8 a. m. Central Standard Time).

A French team in 1938 set the existing channel relay speed record of 12 hours, 35 minutes.

To Again Try Channel Swim

DOVER, Eng., Sept. 7—(P)—Shirley May France, red-eyed, stream-haired, and tired, said today she will have another try at swimming the English channel.

She declined to say how each of the 16 major league clubs voted.

Bonus Rule Provides

"It beat me yesterday, but I am sure I can get across next time," said the 17-year-old Somerset, Mass., school girl.

She does not know when "next time" will be, but it may be in a year or two.

Shirley May was pulled out of the water yesterday afternoon after she had tried courageously for 10½ hours to swim from France to England.

She was hauled out at a point estimated to be six miles from her goal, a very cold, but determined girl.

"I am very disappointed," Shirley May said after a warm bath and shampoo to take the grease out of her hair. "It was the first five hours of the swim that beat me."

"Those awful, churning waves washed the grease from my shoulders and after that, of course I got cold quickly."

"I wonder what could have happened if I had had a good day, anyway, I am sure I can do it."

The girl's immediate concern is to get home as promptly as possible. The school term at Somerset started yesterday.

Congressional Air Flights Quiets Down

Ruckus Is Settled Between Congress And Sec'y Johnson

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7—(AP)—The angry flare-up over free-loading plane trips by congressmen died down Tuesday with an agreement that legislators and officials will use government aircraft only for "public business."

It will be strictly up to them to decide whether their junkets by air—at home and abroad—are public business. Secretary of Defense Johnson will take their word for it.

The row started when Johnson suggested that some senators planning a world tour take a commercial plane for part of the trip instead of an Air Force plane.

That, he said, would save money.

The understanding was reached after Stephen Early, former aide to the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, intervened between Johnson and Sen. Elmer Thomas (D-Okl).

A statement of policy to make official the understanding reached by Early and Thomas was signed late today by Johnson.

BOBBIES' NEW PLUNGING NECKLINE

The directive said that "for trips that are in the national interest and necessary to the conduct of government business, military aircraft may be used by authorized officials of the federal departments."

It also said that the statement of a congressional committee chairman or department head that the trip is in the national interest and necessary to the conduct of government business "will normally be a sufficient basis for approval of the request trip."

Johnson was out of town yesterday when Senate Democratic Leader Lucas (Ill.) arranged a pow-wow between Thomas and Early, now undersecretary of defense. They talked it over and the ruckus was settled.

As a result, Thomas today dropped his demand that Johnson provide him full information about use of military aircraft by President Truman, Vice President Barkley and other top government officials—including Johnson.

"Why cause them all that trouble?" commented Thomas who is chairman of a Senate appropriations subcommittee that passes on funds for the armed forces. He plans to lead members of the group to Europe soon to check on expenditures of public funds.

Thomas outlined the agreement as follows:

1. The defense department will issue a policy statement to restrict the use of military planes to public business."

2. Military planes will be furnished congressmen and other government officials if they request them and state it is "public business."

3. The defense secretary will not question the reasons for such request "but will depend on their honor not to abuse the privilege."

4. Thomas said he agreed with Johnson that it would be cheaper and safer for the Senators going round the world trips to make the run from Cario to Tokyo by commercial plane, in view of the fact that military air transport service planes do not fly that leg regularly.

Death to Mrs. Hogan Monday

Mrs. Silverlene Hogan, granddaughter of the late Hamilton and Sylvia Powell, one of the first Negro families of Sedalia, died at the Missouri Pacific hospital in St. Louis at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon. She was a graduate of the Lincoln high school and a music student of the George R. Smith college.

Surviving are her husband, Walker Hogan, of the home, 416 West Johnson street, two sisters, Mrs. Louise Martin, of Sedalia and Mrs. Hazel Bethel, of Cheyenne, Wyo., three aunts, Mrs. Cynthia Campbell, and Mrs. Magnolia Calwell, both of Sedalia and Mrs. Emma Visar, of Montserrat and two uncles, Mark Powell, of Sedalia and Buck Campbell, of Knob Noster.

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock at Taylor Chapel church with the Rev. A. M. Todd, officiating. Burial will be in Crown Hill Annex.

The body will be taken from the Alexander funeral home to the family home, 416 West Johnson street at 4:00 o'clock this afternoon.

No Injuries In Wreck At Broadway And Missouri

No injuries were suffered in a collision of a 1936 Chevrolet coupe driven by Don A. Carter, 904 East Eleventh street, and a 1946 Ford truck driven by S. G. Guyer, Chiefland, Fla., at Broadway and Missouri avenue about 7:40 o'clock Tuesday night.

Damages of about $200 resulted to the Chevrolet. No damages resulted to the Ford. Settlement was made between the parties of the wreck and no arrests were made.

How to Play Canasta: 8

The Play Ends When Player Melds Out

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY

America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service

Here are the remaining laws of four-handed Canasta.

THE DISCARD: After completing a draw and melding (the latter is optional), the player discards. If he plays all of his cards he does not have to have card to discard.

FREEZING THE PACK: A deuce or a joker (or a red trey, if it is the first card turned over from the stock pile) freezes the pack. When the up-card is a deuce or a joker or a black trey, a player cannot pick up the pack. He must draw from the stock pile.

A black trey does not freeze the pack. It simply forces the next player to draw from the stock pile. But as long as the pack contains a deuce or a joker (or a red trey, if it is the first card turned over from the stock pile), it remains frozen.

When the pack is frozen, it can only be taken up by a player in his proper turn when he has two natural cards to match the up-card. For example, if the up-card is a five-spot, a player must have two natural fives in his own hand in order to pick up the pack if it is frozen.

When the pack is not frozen, a player can pick it up if he has one natural card to match the up-card and a wild card; or if he can play the up-card on one of the melds previously made by his side.

A player may meld out (with or without having a card to discard) without asking his partner's permission. Before going out, though, it is your privilege to ask your partner, "May I go out, partner?" It is always your privilege to ask this question in your turn before making any meld. You do not have to ask. You may, if you wish, just go out. But if you do ask, you are bound by your partner's reply. If he says "Yes," you must go out. And if you are unable to go out, your side must pay a 100-point penalty. If your partner says "No," you must keep at least one card in your hand.

However, when it next comes your turn, you again are privileged either to go out without asking your partner, or before drawing, once again you may ask drawing if he may meld out and partner says "No," he may then either draw a card from the stockpile or take the pack or discard pile.

When a player melds out, play ends and the deal is scored in accordance with the scoring table.

TOMORROW: "Going out" and special rules.

Un-American to Put Red's Return on Bargaining Basis

By Bruce Biossat

It would be fruitless to speculate on what led Anatole P. Barsov, the Russian refugee flyer, to seek return home after he and companion deserted the Soviet air force nearly a year ago to come to America.

There is good point, however, in delving into differences exhibited among American officials as to how Barsov's return should have been handled.

Once it learned of his desire to go back, the State Department, on whose authority the two flyers were allowed entry here in the first place, took the view Barsov should be turned over to the Russians promptly.

But Army authorities in Austria wanted to detain him as a bargaining lever for the release of several Americans known to be in Russian custody in the Soviet zones of Austria and Germany.

This Army attitude resulted in Barsov's being held in Austria by our forces almost a week after he was flown there from the United States. Finally he was handed over to Soviet authorities on specific instructions from the State Department.

An Army spokesman complained: "We did not even try to bargain Barsov's return for the return of our own people."

It seems to us this shows a grievous lack of understanding of the moral values America stands for. Barsov and his companion, Peter Pirogov, came into U. S. hands seeking political asylum and voicing a keen wish to live in America. In accord with long custom, the country happily provided that asylum. Eager Americans squired the pair through Virginia, which they had expressed an especial desire to see.

Simply because Barsov underwent a change of heart and asked to be sent home, that doesn't mean the United States must suddenly regard him as a chattel to be used callously in trading for Americans who happen to have been seized by the Russians. Such an attitude would do violence to the whole spirit in which he was welcomed to our soil.

Furthermore, the Americans now in Soviet custody are being held improperly and illegally. As much as we want them back, we cannot stoop to bartering in human beings to get them. Those Americans belong on U. S. occupied soil as a matter of right. To indulge in trading would be a low performance on the Russian level.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson delivered a deserved rebuke to the Army when he said the United States does not engage in such practices. By what stretch of the imagination could we have defended holding Barsov, a man who had committed no crime but merely wanted to go home?

The Army's attitude certainly reflected warmth-hearted consideration for the seized Americans. But it overlooked moral fundamentals that this country can never afford to ignore.

Barkley's Daughter Wants No Vice Presidential Marriage

By Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON. Sept. 7 — Capitol society's biggest question mark is whether Vice President Alben Barkley will or won't marry the winsome widow from St. Louis, Mrs. Carlton Hadley.

The speculation comes up at every cocktail party and as usual was the subject of much buzzing at a recent party in honor of Barkley's daughter, Mrs. Douglas MacArthur, whose husband is the nephew of the famed general and who holds down the state department's important western European desk.

Mrs. MacArthur, asked point blank whether her father was going to marry Mrs. Hadley, summed it up quite briefly.

"Leave it to sis," she said, referring to her elder sister, Mrs. Max Truitt.

"Do you think sis is going to let anyone push her out as father's official hostess and second lady of the land?"

Note — Mrs. Truitt as the vice president's hostess attends most White House dinners, including the exclusive dinner for Winston Churchill to which not even Senators Connally and Vandenberg were invited.

British Talk Finance

The British financial conversations, beginning today, are probably as important as any monetary talks held in this country since the days when Alexander Hamilton settled the debts of the 13 colonies. Here is how the respective American-British viewpoints stack up.

British strategy — Sir Stafford Cripps and Foreign Minister Bevin have been rehearsing a sales talk which will have a certain amount of American appeal. They will argue that Britain is the chief bastion of west European democracy, that if her system fails, Russian Communism is certain for all Europe. In this case, all the investment of the war, the investment of the Marshall plan, the investment of the British loan will be lost. Therefore it is better, argue the British, to bail out that investment rather than lose it.

Furthermore, Bevin and Cripps plan to talk in terms of air bases. Britain is the one country relatively safe for B-36 bases. And those bases must be protected not merely from outside aggression but from inside unrest and revolution. A sound British economy, they will argue, is one of the best safeguards.

British remedy — To remedy this, Foreign Minister Bevin wants an economic union between Britain, Canada and the U. S. About this Cripps has been skeptical. He has hoped for outright U. S. aid.

State Department plan — Secretary of State Dean Acheson, whose mother came from one of the great Canadian distilling families, has given up hope of a loan to Britain. The temper of Congress, he knows, is flatly opposed. Furthermore, no increased aid for Britain is likely under the Marshall plan. Therefore, Acheson will propose increased buying of British strategic materials — tin, rubber, etc., which can be stockpiled for emergencies. This can give Britain economy a lift, but it will be only temporary.

Snyder's Panacea

Snyder Plan — Amiable, easygoing John Snyder, whose St. Louis bank once side-stepped hiring him back, will sit across the table from some of the keenest financial minds in England and Canada during the talks. He heads the U. S. delegation.

Snyder's panacea is to devalue the British pound, and his plan probably will prevail. This will mean that the pound buys less British food imported from abroad, which may mean another round of wage demands.

But it also means that British exports can better compete abroad. For, devaluating the pound is a painless way of lowering wages, lowering costs and underselling competitors.

However, the Snyder plan also is a temporary stopgap — unless Britain takes advantage of this financial fillip to do two things:

1. Increase industrial efficiency, get new labor-saving machinery and permanently lower costs.
2. Reduce expenditures and balance the budget.

Both will be difficult.

Britain's basic problem — much more difficult, however, is Britain's long-range basic problem — namely, diminished resources. No temporary stopgap such as devaluing the pound can cure this. The British once were affluent because they were milking Asiatic colonies, because they had their own coal and iron ore and the most modern factories in the world.

Today, British iron ore is exhausted — even as ours is becoming. Coal is down so deep it is expensive to mine, factories are nowhere near as modern as ours, labor is not efficient and Asiatic colonies are gone. Millions of people in those colonies once lived just above the starvation level while the British empire wore emirine. Now, with the social revolution in Asia, the British, on a crowded, overpopulated island, still cling to the standards of living they maintained as an empire.

But if John Snyder insists on lowering those standards too much, then Britain may follow the French and Italians and become one-third Communist — or more so. That's why the financial talks opening today are so important.

Barkley Goes Back to The Farm

Vice President Barkley, America's most-loved personality, sometimes gets tired of gazing at the 96 rambunctious personalities over whom he presides in the Senate.

So, last week, when asked what plans he had made for the Labor day week-end, Barkley replied:

"I am going to escape from the Senate and go down to my farm in Paducah, where I plan to just gaze at the cows and the pigs. I am sure that will refresh my outlook on life."

• So They Say

I don't think the people on the East Coast quite realize what went on in the Pacific. I don't think we had more than 500,000 or 750,000 men (out there, but) with those 750,000 we contained somewhere between two and three million Japanese, and notwithstanding the dropping of the atomic bomb — and that was a great mistake — we defeated the Japanese nation. — Retired Adm. William F. (Bull) Halsey.

A Hungarian professor says education causes flat feet. Maybe we were wrong about that traffic cop.

When one man can, before leaving his office in the evening, dictate a message of one short paragraph to a small group of individuals throughout the country, go home and to his bed with the full knowledge that when he awakens in the morning 500,000 men will remain away from their customary employment, millions more will be indirectly affected and every part of the nation's economy jeopardized, it's time to do something about it. — Walter R. Thurmond, secretary Southern Coal Producers association, criticizing John L. Lewis.

Economic expansion today presents a strikingly different challenge from that of a hundred years ago. Then, the frontier development was the opening up of our great western resources. The geographic frontier is gone, but we still have a frontier of development. That frontier is technology. — Thomas B. McCabe, federal reserve board chairman.

When I came here, I started to see what I could do to help the merchants of Oklahoma get their share of government contracts. I've begun to have a little luck. I do it for nothing. You can call me a "no-sounder." — Senator Robert S. Kerr, Oklahoma.

The thing that people fear the most is something they don't understand, and the one thing the Russians don't understand is strategic bombing. — General of the Air Force H. H. (Hap) Arnold.

We won the national election last November without New York, without the industrial East and without the Solid South. I am prouder of that than anything that has ever happened to me. — President Truman.

Thank God, I've reached my second childhood. — George Bernard Shaw, turned 93.

Don't Need Experts' Advice To Rear Children Properly

Buck up parents. It looks as though you can come out of that corner pretty soon, take that dunce cap off your head, look your own child squarely in the eye and say: "Mama (or Poppa, as the case may be) knows best."

More Fun With The Kids

And I suspect if the experts really do give us back our confidence in our own adequacy for the job of parenthood, we'll like our children better.

It's a cinch we'll enjoy them more, if we can quit regarding them as problems to which only the experts have the answers.

Of course, it may not be such good news for Junior. He's had a field day while the experts have had us buffaloed.

Don't think he hasn't sensed our indecision, our lack of confidence in knowing what to do about him . . . and made the most of our confusion.

A Mama who is serenely confident that she knows how to handle Junior isn't nearly as easy to get around as one who is convinced the job of child-rearing is too much for her.

Vitamin B Complex Has Many Important Parts to it

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Written for NEA Service

It is now well known that there is no single "vitamin B" but rather a group of several different substances which are different chemically and have different actions. There are at least a dozen separate parts to what is known as the vitamin B complex.

One of the most important of these is known as thiamine. Some foods are particularly rich in thiamine, including peas, beans, whole wheat, oatmeal, enriched flour and bread made from it, peanuts, and lean pork. In human beings who are deprived of enough thiamine in the diet, there is a tendency to become irritable, depressed, quarrelsome, unco-operative, and fearful. Serious deficiency of this vitamin produces a disease known as beriberi.

RIBOFLAVIN IMPORTANT

Another part of the vitamin B complex is called riboflavin. Not enough of this vitamin in the diet will slow the growth of young animals and produce skin inflammation and calaracts in rats. The symptoms in man include inflammation of the lips, inflammation and reddening of the tongue, cracks at the corners of the mouth, inflammation of the skin and a particular kind of inflammation of the eyes. Liver, milk and cream, and leafy vegetables are considered the best sources for this substance in the human diet.

Nicotinic acid (not to be confused with the nicotine in tobacco) is another important part of this complex. In man deficiency of this vitamin is called pellagra, in which condition there is weakness, loss of appetite and indigestion, loss of energy and in the later stages, soreness and ulcerations in the mouth, together with diarrhea. The best sources of nicotinic acid are yeast, lean meats, and liver.

There have been extensive studies carried out on all of these but it is impossible to mention more than a few important points about these interesting, important and complicated parts of the vitamin B complex.

Note: Dr. Jordan is unable to answer individual questions from readers. However, each day he will answer one of the most frequently asked questions in his column.

"What's the tag on that swell Buick ride, with coil springing, extra-wide rims, seats between the axles and all that?"

"And what about Dynaflow Drive—understand I can have that at extra cost—how much?"

Well, sir, the news is good. Plenty good. Because this honey's priced well under your expectations. It's a straight-eight that's priced under a lot of sixes—over the years your investment will be no more than for any other car.

So better not stop with looking. Better price it too—delivered at your door. Your Buick dealer will give you the figures, even demonstrate.

Happy on Being Reunited

TOPEKA, Kas., Sept. 7.—(P)—A young Missourian and his prospective Kansas bride were re-united today after a 32-hour vanishing act by the girl.

Miss Reatha Hixon, 22, University of Missouri Journalism student from Ogalala, Kas., walked into police headquarters here yesterday and calmly said she was not missing. She told detectives she merely had decided not to go through with wedding plans at this time.

She and Russell Johnson, 23, Independence, Mo., also a student at M. U., were scheduled to be married Saturday night.

Miss Nixon and Johnson were reunited at the police station here. They embraced and the girl wept quietly in Johnson's arms.

Miss Nixon disappeared Monday as she and a 20-year-old sister, Pauline, were on their way to Kansas City by train to meet Johnson. Pauline said she last had seen Reatha shortly before the train reached Topeka.

Reatha said she had no idea her disappearance would "cause all this excitement."

"I just stopped off here and took a room," she said.

She added:

"I expect we'll be married after I've had a rest. I think there is no doubt in his mind about me and I know there's none in my mind about him."

Johnson had nothing to say about the girl's disappearance.

Leaving the station together, he said he planned to drive Reatha to her western Kansas home.

Mr. Fox said he would demonstrate the Shopsmith at Montgomery Ward Store, Thursday, and the next day journey to Nevada, Mo., for a demonstration there.

Collapses at Casket Of Father And Dies

ATLANTA, Sept. 7.—(P)—"Daddy, I know you loved me very much and I know that I loved you, too. I want to go with you."

With those words, a frail, grief-stricken girl collapsed beside her father's casket last night and died.

Nine-year-old Mary Long will get her dying wish. She and her father, Hiram B. Long, will have a double funeral tomorrow. Services for Long were postponed one day so Mary's wish could be fulfilled.

Long, a 65-year-old retired brass worker, died Monday. He had been in ill health for months. Survivors include the widow, the mother of nine other children.

St. Louis Youth Is Attacked And Burned

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 7.—(P)—Police reported a 10-year-old boy was attacked and burned severely by two masked teen aged boys last night.

The mother of another boy also was burned as she tried to save the boy when he ran into her house with his clothes on fire.

He is John Walkenford. Police said the youths, about 15 years old, attacked him with burning torches made of brooms.

Get Certificates In Painting

Lloyd R. Wasson and Gerald W. Nicholson will be presented certificates of completion of the three year apprenticeship course in painting, decorating and paper-hanging by A. F. Schindler, of Kansas City, from the Bureau of Apprenticeship, United States Department of Labor, at the regular meeting of the Painters Union No. 786.

Wasson and Nicholson are the first two to complete the apprenticeship course here under the supervision of the joint apprenticeship committee and the Missouri Department of Education. Signatory the certificate were Lloyd Fulton, S. W. Brandstetter and Ray Atwood, representatives of the union, and William T. Wright, Otis Hammond and L. A. Lueck, painting and decorating contractors, who are members of the joint apprenticeship committee.

During the day for the past two weeks Wasson and Nicholson have worked under the jurisdiction of a journeyman painter learning the nights a week during the school term they have attended classes of related instruction two hours each night under the overall direction of Pinkney Miller, Smith-Cotton high school, and the direct supervision of Harry L. Collins.

Discuss Plight of Britain

its Marshall plan dollars' anywhere.

Bevin smiled over this idea for a moment, said he had no comment but then added, "It sounds rather good, anyway."

In three power talks starting in a fifth floor conference room at the state department at 11 a.m. EST the British leaders are expected to seek American agreement to speed up spending of dollars for strategic materials such as tin and rubber.

At the same time they want to relax a 1946 Anglo-American loan agreement provision so that Britain can increase discrimination against buying American goods.

These and other measures, which American officials are expected to receive sympathetically, are designed to (1) increase the flow of badly needed dollars to Britain and (2) enable the British to curtail the spending of the dollars and gold they now have.

Renew Talk on Eisenhower

middle of the road between concentrated wealth on one flank and the unbridled power of Statism on the other."

Along with his previous opposition to federal aid to education — which he said would put the government into that field — this statement has put Eisenhower on the side of the Republicans who have been criticizing what they call Mr. Truman's swing toward big government.

In contrast, Mr. Truman defended his program against the charges that it would lead to "collectivism," "statism" or to a "so-called state."

He said the measures he proposed were for the public good and he didn't care what his opponents called them.

If Eisenhower should enter or be pushed into the Republican nomination race, most observers here at this early stage foresee a three-way contest between him, Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio and former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota.

It would be a case of two college presidents against a senator since Eisenhower heads Columbia university and Stassen is president of the University of Pennsylvania.

Taft will be battling for his political life in next year's senatorial campaign in Ohio. If he is re-elected despite everything organized labor can do to defeat him, his friends predict he will make his fourth try for the GOP presidential nomination.

Mrs. Ethel Eirls, of Lubbock, Tex., arrived this morning for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Stevens, 1104 South Massachusetts avenue.

R. L. West, manager, represented the Sedalia plant. The attendance consisted of managers, hatcherymen and broiler supervisors.

Barkley Dances But No Pictures

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 7—(AP)—Vice President Barkley and Mrs. Carlton S. Hadley wanted to dance last night—but they didn't want accompaniment of flash bulbs.

About 10 newsmen were on hand when the Barkley party arrived at the Starlight roof of the Hotel Chase. Shortly afterwards Harold Koplar, son of the hotel's owner, Sam Koplar, ordered the photographers and reporters out of the room.

Koplar told the newsmen: "Unless you leave the Barkley party threatens to leave."

Barkley denied this. "I never asked to have the press leave and they had no right to say I did."

Then Barkley and Mrs. Hadley went onto the floor to dance. A photographer's flash bulb went off, and the couple left the floor. Barkley said, "I have asked that there be no pictures taken while we dance."

Again hotel employees escorted the newsmen out.

The vice-president and Mrs. Hadley returned to the floor for the next number by the orchestra. When photographers agreed to take no more pictures, they were allowed to sit and watch.

The vice-president plans to leave here today for Springfield, Ill., where he has a speaking engagement Thursday.
